In view of applicant's amendment to the claims mailed on 8/12/2003, following final office action has been necessitated.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 1-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter, which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

In the instant application, the applicant has amended claims 1, 4-7, 17-20 from reading "consisting of" to either "consisting essentially of" or "comprising", which are both broader terms than previously recited "consisting of". The specification as presented does not have support for applicant's amendment. On page 3, line 48 and page 4 of the applicant's specification, the only terms utilized are that of "consisting of". Since terms "consisting essentially of" and "comprising" allow presence of other components.

With respect to claim 1, which is now a product by process claim, the applicants have limitation of "process comprising...". Since the composition consists of the components are disclosed in the specification, incorporation of term "comprising" even in process steps allows for broader interpretation.

During updated search the examiner has found PG-PUB US 2001-0003760. The publication teaches the present invention, however it is not a prior art since 371 date of the present invention falls before filing date of the publication. Foreign priority applications of the PG-PUB are also published after 371 date of the present invention. Also, the PG-PUB cannot be used in the Double Patenting rejection since claims of the PG-PUB are oriented toward an additive whereas the claims of present invention are oriented towards polymer dispersion.

The rejections over the prior art of DEGEN (US 4,835,212) and DEGEN (US 4,855,343) are hereby overcome, since the prior art of record teaches degraded starch that has inherent viscosity of 0.04-0.12 dl/g, whereas the present invention requires the inherent viscosity to be greater than 1.0 dl/g. In fact DEGEN teaches away from using starch, having viscosity greater than 1 dl/g since the starch of the prior art of degraded to much lower values using amylase, before it is utilized in dispersion. Due to discontinuation of this prior art against present claims the applicant's arguments are considered moot.

3. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
